PROFILE

Second-year Computing Technologies student looking for a 12-month placement in software, web development or IT, starting in summer 2027. I built and maintain the live website for a small radio station in Newry, and I have worked part-time alongside my studies since 2021.

EDUCATION

BSc (Hons) Computing Technologies, Ulster University, Belfast 2025 – 2029 (expected)

Includes a placement year in 2027/28. Year 2 modules: Java programming; Python with Flask and SQLAlchemy; an Agile team project in a team of five; placement preparation.

Level 3 Extended Diploma in Technology, Southern Regional College, grade D*DD 2022 – 2024

IT Specialist: HTML and CSS, Certiport May 2023

PROJECTS

Coast Internet Radio, coastinternetradio.com May 2026 – present

- Built and maintain the website for a small internet radio station run by a family member, designed for older listeners who are not very confident with technology.
- Set up Netlify hosting and two Cloudflare Workers so the station's HTTP-only stream and track information play on the HTTPS site.
- Features include a one-button live player, now playing, up next and previously played tracks, text size and contrast settings, and an admin page so the station owner can update content.
- Wrote the code using online tutorials, class notes and AI tools, which helped with debugging, research and some of the more complex code.

Portfolio website, jamielparr.netlify.app Oct 2026 – present

- Plain HTML and CSS site built step by step with Claude Code and deployed on Netlify, with Playwright browser and accessibility tests running on GitHub Actions.

TECHNICAL SKILLS

Used in projects: HTML, CSS, JavaScript, Git and GitHub, Netlify, Cloudflare Workers

Studying: Java, Python (Flask, SQLAlchemy)
